THE HISTORIAN

The Historian, a scholarly peer-reviewed (double-blind) quarterly journal published since 1938, welcomes manuscripts submitted by historians and students of history throughout the world and from all regional, temporal and thematic fields of history. Submissions should be of interest to a wide readership not only in the fields of North American and European history, but also in African, Asian, Australian, and South American history. Manuscripts should meet the professional standards of academic journals, make a significant contribution in fact or interpretation, and use unpublished and primary sources as well as a broad range of relevant literature. Manuscripts that have been published elsewhere or that are being considered for publication elsewhere will not be considered.

Manuscripts should normally be between 6,000 and 8,000 words, exclusive of footnotes. The latter should be footnotes, not endnotes, and conform to The Chicago Manual of Style, latest edition (a more specific guide is available from the editorial offices upon request). Please send one copy of the article in MSWord (.doc) as e-mail attachment to kleiohistorian@gmail.com. The author's name should be included on title page only. Authors should also send a one hundred word summary abstract of the article and their e-mail addresses.

Evaluation of manuscripts (by double-blind peer review) generally requires approximately four to six months. Photographs, maps, and other illustrative material must be provided in camera-ready form (such as JPEG files), with authorization from copyright holders for these materials' reproduction in The Historian.
